Kevin Winship

Technical Safety Manager, CORGI

Kevin has over 35 years' experience within the gas service industry, and is a qualified Carbon Monoxide Incident Investigator. Since joining CORGI in 1991, Kevin has developed an extensive knowledge of gas management processes both from a technical and housing management perspective, which he uses to promote a greater understanding of gas safety management and to improve systems in social housing organisations.

Prof. Roger Willey

Managing Director, ACS Physical Risk Control Ltd

A highly regarded industry professional, academic, and expert witness, Roger set up the first private Test House in 1978, which has, to date, carried out over 100,000 asbestos-related consultancy contracts worldwide. His published academic research has also brought about changes in UK legislation and working practises in the asbestos and contaminated land industries.

Claire Heyes

Chief Executive, ASCP, AGSM, AESM

Claire has in-depth knowledge of safety and compliance issues as they affect senior management and is passionate about raising awareness at all levels. Claire set up the ASCP to recognise and support the important work of safety and compliance professionals, share best practice, and represent them in driving positive change within the industry.

Bob Cairney

Technical Standards Advisor, SELECT

Bob is an Incorporated Engineer, member of the IET and holds a SJIB Grade (ECS) card at technician grade, the highest level possible. His 35 years' experience in the electrical sector includes electrical contracting, university estates and local authority engineering departments. Since joining SELECT in 1998, Bob has been responsible for conducting technical assessments, delivering industry training and providing advice and technical assistance to SELECT members.

Kim Morris

Head of Training & Membership, CORGI

With extensive experience in managing, assessing and delivering training for qualifications, Kim is well placed to develop the portfolio of high quality gas, electrical and compliance qualifications currently offered by CORGI through the ASCP Academy. His career experience includes being a college lecturer in plumbing and gas, holding a key role at EAL as an External Verifier, and the Training Support Inspector at CAPITA for the Gas Safe Register and CORGI for over 18 years.

John Vaughan

Technical Safety Manager, CORGI

John has over 30 years' experience working in both gas and electrical industries for public and private sector organisations, including local authorities and facilities management organisations, and has experience managing services including water, gas and electrical infrastructures for clients. Working for the Health and Safety Executive for Northern Ireland for 8+ years as a gas safety compliance officer, John has been responsible for the investigation of gas incidents and is a qualified carbon monoxide investigator and experienced expert witness.

Colin Scoines

Head of Governance and Procurement, ASCP

Having started out as a domestic/commercial heating engineer, Colin has owned his own HVAC business, surveyed and managed various public sector housing refurbishment programmes, and most recently, worked as a technical procurement expert, responsible for the whole procurement cycle, producing bespoke compliant tenders, incorporating document creation, evaluation, award and contract management. His expertise spans not only domestic and commercial gas, but also electrical, fire, asbestos and legionella safety procurement.

David Richmond

Regional Specification Manager, Aico

Having spent the first 15 years of his career in the retail systems/telecommunications industry working in senior technical roles, David chose to take his career in a new direction with a move to the commercial fire systems industry. Working in sales leadership roles, he has most recently taken on the position of Regional Specification Manager for Aico, where he works closely with organisations in the social housing sector.

Bryan Dick

Ventilation Specialist, EnviroVent

Having worked as a Specification Manager for a number of leading manufacturers in the construction industry over the past 15 years, Bryan has a wealth of experience in a variety of sectors including domestic, public sector, light commercial and commercial. He has worked with specifiers, developers, contractors and third party supply chain professionals, with a focus on important factors such as energy efficiency and carbon reduction. In his current role at EnviroVent, he uses this experience to educate and inform the social sector, helping organisations to align ventilation solutions with their chosen energy strategy.

Jimmy Hendry

*EngTech, FCIPHE RP
Lecturer, Inverness College UHI*

Having started his career as an award-winning apprentice plumber, Jimmy has travelled the world, not only sharing his knowledge as a teacher in Namibia, but also working as the sole mechanical services technician on the Halley 6 research station in Antarctica. He now lectures at Inverness College UHI and, in addition to his EngTech status, was recently accepted at the Chartered Institute of Plumbing and Heating Engineers at fellowship level, and awarded the title of Master Plumber by the Worshipful Company of Plumbers.

Jemma Tennant

Operational Manager, City of Edinburgh Council Scientific Dept

Jemma has a demonstrated history of working in the environmental services industry, across a variety of organisations. Skilled in waste, internal audit, environmental compliance, water treatment, and energy efficiency, Jemma holds the position of Operational Manager at Edinburgh Council's Scientific Services Department and is a contributing member of the North East Councils Legionella Focus Group (NECLFG).
